ON GROUNDS OF FRAUD

Sensational Railroad Suit Filed In St. Louis.

A SPURIOUS FORECLOSURE.

A Boston Capitalist Prays the Court to Set Aside the Sale of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad.

St. Louis, Nov. 17.—Dwight Braman of Boston, bondholder of St. Louis and San Francisco, filed an equity bill in the United States circuit court praying for the setting aside of the foreclosure sale on the ground of fraud.

The bill covers 43 printed pages and alleges conspiracies and frauds, not only in the conduct of the 'Frisco receivership, but in the purchase of the 'Frisco by the Atchison system and its management by the Atchison. Mr. Braman sues on behalf of himself, the holder of $115,000 worth of consolidated mortgage bonds of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway company, and of all other holders of consolidated 'Frisco bonds.

The complainant names as defendants the St. Louis and San Francisco railway, the defendant company, and the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad, its successor, organized by the foreclosure purchasers. He also names the Mercantile Trust company, trustee under the consolidated bonds; Aldace F. Walker and John McCook, receivers of the 'Frisco and Atchison; Louis Fitzgerald, Jr., Kennedy Todd, Benjamin F. Cheney, Max M. Seligman, Charles S. Glead, James A. Blair, Sigmund Alsborg, Samuel C. Eastman, members of the reorganization committee.

Mr. Braman in his prayer petitions the circuit court to declare the foreclosure sale of the 'Frisco to be null and void, to enjoin the officers of the St. Louis and San Francisco railway from using any kind of bonds on the property, and to appoint receivers for the St. Louis and San Francisco railway and the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad.

He says that in order to induce United States Judge Caldwell to sign the decree of foreclosure of the 'Frisco, which he did last April, the defendants conspired to make false representations and reports to Judge Caldwell.

LABOR STATISTICS.

Data Relative to Number of Persons Unemployed.

Washington, Nov. 17.—Hon. Carroll D. Wright, commissioner in charge of the eleventh census, has transmitted to the secretary of the interior a special report on the statistics of occupations.

The census bulletin on occupations, issued more than a year and a half ago, gave only the bare numbers of persons engaged in remunerative work at the census of 1890, but this special report presents detailed information. It shows for the first time in census work the number of colored persons engaged in occupations.

The most interesting feature of the report relates to the question of the unemployed. Similar data relative to the unemployed were collected at the census of 1890, but were not compiled.

There were 22,735,661 persons 10 years of age and over engaged in gainful occupations in 1890, of whom 18,821,090 were males and 3,914,571 females. Of these 3,013,117 males and 510,613 females or a total of 3,523,730 persons were unemployed at their principal occupations during some part of the census year ending May 31, 1890. Of the whole number of persons so unemployed 1,818,865 were unemployed from one to three months, 1,368,418 from four to six months and 336,447 from seven to 12 months.

KNOCKED SENSELESS.

Daring Work of a Masked Robber In a Hoosier Town.

Brazil, Ind., Nov. 17.—James Trackwell, 90, who keeps a little store on Lambert street, near the Vandavia railroad, was almost murdered by a mysterious stranger. Some man wearing a mask entered his store from the rear and struck Trackwell over the head with a club, knocking him senseless. Hastily closing and locking the front door, the thief rifled the old man's pockets and began working at the money drawer, when Trackwell recovered consciousness and began calling for help. Neighbors rushed in, and while they were battering down the front door the thief escaped through the rear door.

Died of Consumption.

Alliance, O., Nov. 17.—A man dressed in United States navy uniform, with papers in his pocket bearing the name of George Bender and a railroad pass from Washington to Ida Grove, Ia., was taken off the train here dying of consumption. He was unconscious and lived but a few hours.

The American Was Third.

London, Nov. 17.—August Belmont's American horse Tagus ran third in the race for the Hummerston nursery handicap at Leicester. Five horses ran. M. Lebaudy's bay filly Overdue was first and J. Lewis Strenall second.

Desperate Battle Raging.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 17.—CIPHER dispatches say Weyer and Macco have met and are fighting a desperate battle.

MISHAP OF THE COILA.

British Steamer Goes to the Bottom In Deep Water.

WRECKED ON CUBAN COAST.

The Seamen Complain of the Harsh Treatment Which They Received at the Hands of the Spanish Soldiers.

New York, Nov. 17.—Among the passengers who arrived on board the Ward line steamer Yucatan from Havana were Captain Nelson and 12 of the crew of the British steamer Coila which ran ashore on Colorado reef on Nov. 4.

Later the steamer got off into deep water and Captain Nelson attempted to run her across the strait to Key West, but the water gained so rapidly that they abandoned the steamer which shortly afterward sank in deep water.

The shipwrecked seamen landed on the Cuban coast about 60 miles west of Havana, where they fell into the hands of Spanish soldiers. The Spaniards, believing them to be filibusters from the American coast, treated the prisoners harshly, threatening to shoot all hands. Finally they were removed to Havana, where they were taken in charge by the British consul, who sent them to New York.

A HOTEL SHAKEN.

Dynamite Was Exploded by Someone Probably For Revenge.

Boston, Nov. 17.—There was an attempt made to blow up the hotel Highland, Roxbury, by the use of dynamite. The chimneys and one of the upper stories were badly wrecked by the explosion.

It is alleged that the dynamite was used for the purpose of revenge. After the explosion the police found on the roof three unexploded sticks of dynamite, eight inches in length. They think the intention was to have the bombs explode simultaneously, which would surely have caused terrible destruction.

Cornelius O'Brien of Roxbury is the owner of the hotel. It was purchased some time ago from Nicholas Bolande, a contractor, who built the house for speculation. After the sale some question of ownership arose and O'Brien was sued by Bolande, who lost the case.

There have been five new janitors at the building within a month. Each janitor left without giving any reason for doing so. What bearing these conditions may have on the case the police decline to say, yet they are following up all possible clues.

MERIT SYSTEM INDORSED.

Knights of Labor Declare In Favor of Civil Service.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 17.—At the early session of the Knights of Labor general assembly a proposition from Building Contractors' Assembly 1562 of New York under the jurisdiction of Assembly 48 favoring the restriction of immigration to 50,000 per year, was defeated. A proposition was also introduced and carried by a narrow margin requesting congress to enact a law to keep out all foreign artists, musicians and professional people. There was a long discussion over the civil service law, which resulted in an endorsement of the merit system. The general board was instructed to urge that the government establish postal savings banks.

Raised a Snug Sum.

Havana, Nov. 17.—The committee of national defense met. The bankers and the business men have agreed to refrain from subscriptions to the national loan as no time is left to initiate the subscription. With the idea of making a patriotic gift to the government the sums agreed to be paid for subscriptions to the loan will be diverted to the purpose of the gift. The Marques of Pinar del Rio and Prudencio Rabell each subscribed $10,000; the Marques of Apezte Guai, $5,000; Sobrinos Herrera, $8,000, and others sufficient to make the total $56,000. The committee of national defense now has opened a popular subscription for the same fund.

A New Bicycle Record.

Denver, Nov. 17.—A. L. Hachenberger, brother of O. B. Hachenberger, the famous long distance bicycle rider, established a new world's record on the D. W. C. track by riding 25 miles unpaced in 1:04:20. The previous record was 1:05:30 2-5, made by A. F. Senn of Buffalo.

Want a Genuine Farmer.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The National Grange adopted a resolution in favor of the appointment of a practical farmer for secretary of agriculture and appointed a committee to draft a memorial to Mr. McKinley expressing the views of the Grange.

Murdered Her Child.

Lima, O., Nov. 17.—Ida Bushnell of Bluffton, Ind., was arrested here charged with murdering her illegitimate offspring by throwing it from a train near Spencerville.

Gold Reserve Rising.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The treasury lost $34,100 in gold, which leaves the true amount of the reserve $124,580,761. The net gain in gold at New York was $14,000.

Stranger Found Dead.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 17.—The lifeless body of an unknown, well dressed man was found on the railroad tracks near here. He had $50 on his person.

Attempt to Burn an Infirmary.

Portsmouth, O., Nov. 17.—A second attempt has been made to burn the county infirmary. A deaf mute is suspected.

A Cincinnati Failure.

Cincinnati, Nov. 17.—Samuel Woodside & Company, dealers in teas and cigars, have assigned. Liabilities estimated at $15,000; assets, $25,000.

Last His Memory.

San Francisco, Nov. 17.—Rev. W. G. Shaw, charged with embezzlement, claims to have suffered a complete loss of memory.

Strawberries Ripe In Illinois.

G. S. Robbins of New Douglas, Ill., picked several quarts of strawberries from his patch last month, and a farmer near Bethalto recently sent eight quarts to Alton to sell. A second crop of peaches has ripened on one tree this fall, and a second crop of cherry and apple blossoms has been seen on many trees.

Hogs and Storms.

Hogs are always more restless than usual on the approach of bad weather, and when these animals run to and fro with mouthfuls of straw, leaves or branches the indication is for very foul weather. In their native state pigs probably made their own beds, and when bad weather was coming perhaps gathered a larger supply of straw or leaves than usual to serve as a protection against the rain.

GERTRUDE WILSON DREW

The Fine Heater at Hoover Bros. Saturday.

A Large Number of People Witnessed the Drawing.

In the drawing of the celebrated Moore's Air Tight Heater, held Saturday afternoon, Hoover Bros. have scored another point in public favor. Everything was done open and above board, and while all couldn't be the lucky one, all were satisfied they had had a square deal.

In giving the stove, the same spirit of enterprise and desire to please was manifested which has characterized this great store from its inception. The enterprise which has developed it from a humble origin to one of the greatest stores in Northwestern Ohio.

The Schoolboy and the Emperor.

The organ of the schoolmasters, the Allgemeine Deutsche Lehrerzeitung, relates an episode of Kaiser Wilhelm's visit to Wiesbaden. When he was riding along the Taunus strasse at the head of his suit on Monday, a small boy ran after him and cried out as he frantically waved his cap. "Herr Kaiser, Herr Kaiser, get us a holiday tomorrow!" The emperor laughed, and, with a friendly wink to the lad, called out, "We shall manage it." Accordingly on the next day all the lads and lasses of the town were informed that the day was "schulfrei," and wherever the Kaiser appeared he was naturally greeted as a liberator, with the full power of youthful lungs.

An International Affair.

A German young woman named Elizabeth Opitz has just married a Japanese noble, Viscount Seisro Matsudara, son of the late feudal lord of Shimadara, near Nagasaki, and a pupil in the forestry school at Ebersvalde. This is the first marriage between a German and a Japanese of princely rank.

"She" Is Dead.

Majaja, queen of the Woodbush tribes in South Africa and the original of Rider Haggard's "She," has just died at the age of 120 years. The Transvaal government has approved of another old woman as her successor.

Sweet Girl—"Mother, George told me those Sterling silver embroidery scissors cost $1.50, and yet to-day I saw the same thing at Macdonald & Co.'s for $1.90."

Mother—"You know, my dear, George is very religious. Most likely he bought them at a church fair."

ceeded and the names were announced. When twenty-four tickets had been drawn another shaking occurred, to say nothing of the shaking of the interested spectators. The last ticket was finally produced and it was announced that Miss Gertrude Wilson, of Hindel street, was the lucky one. The young lady was not present but the news was conveyed to her. Hindel is a short street near Hoover's lake, 6th west of Main, north of Kibby.

GLEASON IS ARRESTED.

The Mayor of Long Island City Is Arraigned.

HIS POLITICAL OPPONENTS.

Order for Arrest Was Based on an Indictment for Alleged Violation of the Election Law.

New York, Nov. 17.—A warrant for arrest was served upon Mayor P. J. Gleason of Long Island City. The order was based upon an indictment found by the grand jury of Queens county last week alleging that Mayor Gleason had violated the election law in appointing inspectors. Mayor Gleason started immediately for Brooklyn to give bonds before Judge Gaynor.

Before leaving the city hall Mayor Gleason said: "This indictment, like the other proceedings instituted against me by my political enemies, will amount to nothing. I will have nothing to fear. Because I can show that I appointed none but competent election inspectors and did not violate the law in any way. This is purely another chapter in the old political feud." Mayor Gleason was arraigned before Judge Gaynor in Brooklyn later in the day and held in $1,000 bail until Wednesday. Bail was promptly furnished.

PAIR OF EAGLES.

Mark and Hanna Are Sent to President-elect McKinley.

Canton, O., Nov. 17.—Major McKinley had a great many callers and was kept busy greeting them. His mail, too, was quite heavy and an hour or two was spent in answering correspondents. Congressman Charles A. Boutelle had a long talk with the president-elect. Mr. Boutelle left for New York accompanied by his daughter.

Mrs. McKinley has greatly improved health and during the afternoon took a drive with Major McKinley about the city. President-elect McKinley was the recipient of two handsome specimens of the American eagle. They were sent by admirers from Whitewood, South Dakota. Placards on the crate bore the inscription, "Look out for Mark when he reaches out for anything; the tail goes with the hide." The birds are named "Mark" and "Hanna" respectively. The eagles now adorn City park, having been added to the collection of pets in charge of Superintendent Reed.

Will Establish a Running Track. Cleveland, Nov. 17.—Mrs. H. S. Darguin of St. Louis and Mr. H. O. Price of Hot Springs, the well known race track men, are in Cleveland for the purpose of establishing a running track in this city. A proposition will be made to the Cleveland Driving Park company to lease their park for dates that will in no way conflict with the grand circuit trotting meetings. A new track may be built.

Mr. Bryan Goes Hunting. Kansas City, Nov. 17.—Hon. W. J. Bryan passed through Kansas City en route from his Nebraska home to St. Louis. From St. Louis he starts out on a hunting trip through southern Missouri and will be accompanied by a number of state officials, including Governor Stone. He talked of his intended campaign until 1900 and expressed his belief that the Democratic party would carry the banner of free silver into the White House four years hence.

Considering Alleged Frauds. Nashville, Nov. 17.—The Republican number of prominent Republicans held a secret meeting to discuss the best methods for exposing the frauds practiced by Democratic election officers. It is claimed that if a fair count could be secured in five west Tennessee counties it would give the state to the Republicans.

Met and Organized. Washington, Nov. 17.—The commission appointed by President Cleveland some weeks ago under the authority granted by the river and harbor act passed at the last session of congress to locate a deep water harbor in southern California, met and organized by electing Rear Admiral Walker as president.

Christian Women Appointed. Cincinnati, Nov. 17.—Mrs. R. B. Cowen, corresponding secretary of the Methodist Foreign Missionary society, has received word through missionary channels that Li Hung Chang has appointed two Christian Chinese women delegates from China to the Women's congress to meet in London in 1898.

Football Denounced. Chicago, Nov. 17.—Playing football on Thanksgiving day was denounced by the Methodist ministers of Chicago at their weekly meeting, as it destroyed the original spirit of the day.

Nothing Official. Washington, Nov. 17.—The state department had received no reports up to 4 p. m. as to the reported serious engagement outside of Havana.

Pettus Nominated. Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 17.—On the first ballot in the Democratic caucus E. W. Pettus was nominated for senator to succeed Senator Pugh.

A Farmer Killed. Hillsboro, O., Nov. 17.—Mr. Isaac Landers, prominent farmer, hanged himself in his barnyard.

Tired of Life. Batavia, O., Nov. 17.—Squire Jerome Gehmyer, 68, suicided by hanging.

FOURTH DAY'S SESSION.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union Greeting Away.

St. Louis, Nov. 17.—The fourth day's session of the twenty-third annual convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union began with the usual prayer meeting at Senator Edmunds' house led by Mrs. Charlton Escholtz of New York. An hour later the regular meeting was called to order at Music hall by Miss Willard. Mrs. Annie M. Palmer of Iowa, national evangelist, led in prayer.

Mrs. Sophia M. Grubb, superintendent of the work among foreigners, reported that it was progressing favorably, although influenced by the general depression in business. The seven national associates had done effective work in the German, Spanish, Dutch, Scandinavian and Danish divisions. "Our American flag," she said in concluding, "still floats over the saloon (on Ellis island) at our chief port of entry, and immigrants are welcomed with the greeting of the saloon."

Mrs. M. B. Carse, president of the Publishing association, reported that the accounts were $125,337 and the expenditures $125,157. The receipts for 1896 were $14,462 less than in 1895, but the net gain was $536. Mrs. Carse also submitted a report about the temple. She had raised $141,395 of the $300,000 needed to buy the trust bonds and would try to secure the balance this year. The interest on the bonds has been paid.

SHERMAN'S LETTER.

He Congratulates President-Elect McKinley on His Victory.

Canton, O., Nov. 17.—United States Senator John Sherman of Ohio has just written Major McKinley:

"I am rather late in expressing to you my hearty congratulations for your election as president of the United States, but they are none the less sincere and hearty. The greatest beneficiaries of the result of the election are the people of the United States, for they have escaped a real danger in the threatened election of Bryan and the socialist ideas he represented."

"You will enter upon your great office with the most hopeful promises of success, and I confidently believe you will meet and perform your important duties to the satisfaction of the conservative people of the United States."

Will Vote For Him.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—W. O. Lamonte announced that he will vote for Congressman Hitt as the successor of United States Senator Palmer. Lamonte was elected to the legislature from the district in which resides Martin B. Madden, one of the leading Chicago aspirants for the senatorship. The announcement causes much surprise, as Lamonte was generally supposed to be a thick-and-thin supporter of Madden.

Hesing Looking For Job.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—A new candidate has entered for the mayoralty contest of next spring in the person of Postmaster Washington Hesing. His candidacy is regarded as the first move in the formation of a citizens' ticket. Mr. Hesing was prominent as a gold Democrat during the recent presidential campaign.

The Valleys Flooded.

Tacoma, Nov. 17.—The Puyallup, Stuck, White and Black river valleys between Tacoma and Seattle are flooded, causing such danger to traffic that the Northern Pacific has abandoned its entire service on the Seattle branch. Only one wire out of seven is working between Tacoma and Seattle.

Director Holden Decorated.

San Francisco, Nov. 17.—E. S. Holden, director of the Lick observatory, has received from the minister of foreign affairs of Denmark, the decoration of Knight of the Royal Order of the Dannebrog. This ancient order was founded in A. D. 1219, and is conferred in the present case for services to science.

More Men Employed.

Thompsonville, Conn., Nov. 17.—The Hartford Carpet company, whose factories are located here, gave employment to 100 additional men, making the total number of employees between 300 and 400. A portion of the mill runs on a full-time schedule and the rest three days a week.

Wright Irrigation Law Sustained.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The United States supreme court has sustained the constitutionality of the Wright irrigation law of California and overruled the decision of the United States circuit court for the California district, which was against the law's validity.

A Hunter Fatally Shot.

Shelbyville, Ind., Nov. 17.—James Hall, while attempting to climb a fence with a shotgun, was fatally shot by the loads of both barrels entering the left lung, coming out at the shoulder.

In Full Blast Now.

Norwich, Conn., Nov. 17.—The Greenwich cotton mills, which have been idle since July 3, resumed operations on full time and with the full complement of hands. Between 500 and 600 hands are employed.

Raided by Dervishes.

Snakin, Nov. 17.—Dervishes have raided the country in the vicinity of Tokar, killing five men and looting a number of cattle. Troops have been dispatched in pursuit of the raiders.

A Wealthy Lady Suicides.

London, Nov. 17.—A wealthy lady, supposed to be an American, who has been staying with her husband at the Hotel Cecil, committed suicide. The matter is being investigated.

Glass Works Resume.

Cambridge, Nov. 17.—W. S. Blake, manager of the Union Glass works here, announced that the factory would start on full time with 200 employees.

What Willie Said.

The minister, it was expected, would spend the evening with the family, and Mrs. Williams was most anxious that her little boy should appear at his best. "Now, Willie," she said, "Dr. Schultz will ask you your name, and you must tell him it is Willie. And he will ask you how old you are, and then you must say 'Five.' And he will want to know where had little boys go, and you must tell him, 'They go to hell.' Do you understand?" Not content with a repetition once or twice, Mrs. Williams drilled him again and again in the answers. Dr. Schultz came, as expected, and after a short conversation with the hostess lifted the child on his knee and said, "Well, my little fellow, can you tell me your name?" Imagine the surprise of the reverend doctor when, like a flash, came the answer: "Willie. Five years old. Go to hell!"—London Figaro.

Which Would He Be?

Much amusement was caused recently at an inquest held at a certain town in Maine, according to an exchange. After the usual swearing in of the jurors one of them arose from his seat and with much dignity protested against sitting as a juror, as he was managing clerk for a firm of solicitors and could not waste his valuable time at an inquest.

After making his protest the coroner, turning to his clerk, said, "Mr. So-and-so, kindly hand me 'Jervis'!" (the book of authority on juries). And fixing the juror steadfastly he said: "Upon referring to 'Jervis' I find that no persons are exempt from sitting as jurors except idiots, imbeciles and lunatics. Under which heading do you claim exemption?"

The Fashions in Mid-Africa.

These people of Ilaia have the fashion of shaving their hair, leaving only a small patch on the crown of the head, like a woolly skunktail. They file their teeth to points, like the Senga and Bissa people, and wear nothing but bark cloth. The Luapula is said to be six days from here. Our next stopping place will be the village of Koranga Nzofu. The swamps we have passed are the identical swamps mentioned by Dr. Livingstone.—The Late E. J. Glave in Century.

Dawn in an African Village.

I slept in a house belonging to the African Lakes company, a creepy sort of habitation at night! Rats galloped about the roof, chasing one another and squealing most piteously. I was awakened in the morning by cocks crowing. There was a hush of night insects; the houses in the dawning light were an indistinct, dull brown; the grass was wet with dew. I heard the shuffling of reed doors slid to one side or their grating on clay flooring when flung open. A few natives begin to appear, exchange morning greetings and start to blow up fires; men, women and children crowd around the fires, the gilded clouds in the east withdraw, the sun peeps on the horizon, fires are soon deserted and daily work begins.—Century.

Her Compliment.

Mr. Snaggs—Miss Bellofield paid you a compliment last night.

Mr. Van Braam—What did she say?

Mr. Snaggs—She intimated that you looked like me.

Mr. Van Braam—I don't know whether that is a compliment or not. How did she come to say it?

Mr. Snaggs—She did not say it in so many words, but she said you looked like a smart man.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Wheat stands at the head of food grains, containing not only a considerable proportion of starch, but also most of the nitrogenous elements adapted to the support of life.

'Tis Midnight!

Hark! All through the house rings the awful sound, once heard never forgotten, the sound of a child's croup cough. There is no time to lose. Croup is a monster that will not be trifled with. Then is the time that if you have neglected to provide yourself with a bottle of Dr. Hand's Cough and Croup Medicine you fully realize how careless and neglectful you have been. It is worth its weight in gold at that critical moment. And yet it costs only 25c a bottle at any drug store.

No Humbug.

Foley's Honey and Tar does not claim to perform miracles. It does not claim to cure all cases of consumption or asthma. But it does claim to give comfort and relief in advanced stages of these diseases and to usually cure early stages. It is certainly worth trying by those afflicted or threatened with these dread diseases. H. E. Vorkamp, n. c. cor. Main and North streets.

A LINGUIST WANTED.

Qualifications Needed to Fill a War Department Vacancy.

It seems remarkable that the government should be compelled to look all over the United States for a clerk. It is not often necessary, but at present the civil service commission is looking everywhere for a man to act as clerk in the office of adjutant general of the army.

The man must be able to translate into English technical military words in French, German, Spanish and Italian; to do typewriting in all these languages; to read proofs and prepare manuscripts for the press; to be familiar with modern library methods with the classification of books, cataloguing and indexing, changing, preparation of binding, etc. He must also be proficient in the use of the English language and literary composition.

If there are any men who possess these qualifications and are willing to exercise them eight hours every day for about $1,500 a year, they may go to the branch office of the civil service commission in that city Oct. 20 and be examined.

The civil service commission is also looking for a retired crackman or some one else competent to handle the locks on the vaults and safes in the treasury department. This man must be able to pick a lock under any circumstances in ten minutes. The intricate locks in the treasury vaults frequently get out of order, and the government keeps an expert whose business is to open them. The pay is $1,800 a year.

The civil service commission will hold examinations in various cities Oct. 26 to select a man for this place. In addition to qualifications on locks and vaults the applicants will be examined in orthography, penmanship, copying, letter writing, arithmetic and practical subjects.

BRITISH PHEGM.

How Explorers Jackson and Nansen Greeted One Another.

British phegm is proverbial. Still, there are skeptics who doubt the story of the two Englishmen who did not speak when they met on the summit of Mont Blanc, and who refuse to believe that one will not rescue a fellow Britisher from drowning unless he has been formally introduced to him. Now we have fresh evidence in support of the main point of those historic cases. Surely no one will question the authenticity of the cable account of the recent discovery of Dr. Nansen amid the polar ice. It was an Englishman named Jackson who first described on the illimitable arctic waste the tiny black speck which turned out to be the intrepid Scandinavian explorer. Mr. Jackson had a good supply of phegm with him, and it appears that Dr. Nansen, who has lived in England, was also pretty well fortified in that respect. When they met, the memorable dialogue that ensued was substantially as follows:

"Jackson—How do you do? Glad to meet you. Nansen—I am glad to meet you. Jackson—Cold day, Nansen—H'm, yes. We have had colder ones, though, in the last year or two up in the drift. Jackson—You will pardon me, I hope, but I seldom forget a face, and I fancy I have seen you before in London. Is not your name Nansen? Nansen—Yes, Nansen is my name. Jackson—Then, by Jove, I am glad to meet you, really, you know. Aw, I say, old chap, wouldn't you come over to my ship and have a brandy and soda? I'll introduce you to my friends.

Cousin Bull—to quote the language of one of his favorite music hall ditties—is 'a good un when you know 'im, but you has to know 'im first.'—Illustrated American.

NUMBER ONE TURNED UP.

Divorce Case in Ohio Recalls a Singular Story.

William McGraw of Turn Creek, O., has been granted a divorce from Elizabeth McGraw. This was a very singular and romantic case.

The parties were married in 1860. When the war broke out, McGraw enlisted, and for several years while in the service he was able to keep in correspondence with his wife. But her letters suddenly ceased, and when McGraw returned home in 1865 he found she had left the country. Several years later he learned of her supposed death. Some time afterward he married again and raised a large family.

Several months ago he received several thousand dollars arrears of pension, and to his surprise wife No. 1 turned up in Tennessee and demanded her share on threat of prosecuting for bigamy. McGraw filed suit for divorce, which was granted without an extensive trial.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MR. CLAY'S VICTORY.

Senatorial Deadlock in Democratic Caucus Broken.

Atlanta, Nov. 17.—Alexander Stephens Clay of Cobb county, chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, and ex-president of the state senate, was nominated for United States senator to succeed John B. Gordon by the Democratic legislative caucus.

The nomination was made on the thirty-first ballot at 3:55 p. m. The vote was: Clay, 95; Howell, 40; Lewis, 18; Norwood, 5; Walsh, 3; Garard, 2. As soon as the vote was announced pandemonium reigned. Mr. Clay was waiting in the senate chamber and the cheering reached his ears. He knew he was elected. His friends immediately ran over to where he was and escorted him to the house, where his presence created a scene of wild enthusiasm.

The friends of the successful candidate immediately began preparations for escorting him to his home in Marietta, 20 miles from Atlanta, for which point he left at 5:30.

Mr. Clay received the active support of ex-Secretary Hoke Smith, Hon. F. G. Dubington and Congressman Maddox and Tate.

"Steve" Clay, as the new senator-to-be is known throughout Georgia, as a boy worked on a farm and secured an education by his own efforts. He studied law, was admitted to the bar and made his appearance in politics in the later '70s, when he was returned from Cobb county as a member of the legislature. He served some years and the third term in 1889, was elected speaker of the house. He was popular with the members.

When Governor Atkinson became the Democratic nominee in 1894 he was succeeded as chairman of the state executive committee by Mr. Clay.

In the campaign recently closed he held the same position. He is young, active, vigorous and of commanding physique.

THE COUNCIL

Held a Short But Lively Session Last Night.

MORE ELECTRIC LIGHTS

To be furnished at last for the Lima College and Jameson Avenue—time to be furnished free of charge for a year.

The city council convened last night with Vice-President McVey in the chair and the following members present: Hughes, Kiplinger, Morrison, Snyder, Chapin, Harmon, Miller, Stephens, Foley and McNeany. Mr. Brotherton came in later.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Clerk read a communication from the Electric Light Co. in which the company offered to furnish an arc light for the street in front of the Lima college for one year, free of charge, and one at Wayne street and Jameson avenue at the usual price for city light.

Mr. Stevens moved that the company be notified to place the lights. The motion was carried.

The sidewalk committee recommended the awarding of a contract for a private alley crossing to G. W. Glazie. The report was adopted.

The engineer reported that the house numbers on all houses on north Main street were correct except those on Mr. Fitzgerald's house.

First partial estimate on west Market street sewer in favor of Wm. Crossen was allowed.

The ordinance to amend the fire department ordinance was given its second reading. Mr. Snyder moved to suspend the rules and give the ordinance its third reading. His motion was lost.

Mr. Snyder moved that two new fire-alarm boxes be purchased—one to be placed on south West street, between Kibby street and the river, and the other to be placed at Kibby street and Greenlaw avenue; and that the box now at Kibby and Elizabeth streets be placed at Main and Kibby streets. Mr. Harmon seconded the motion.

Mr. Brotherton said that the fire fund was already greatly overdrawn, and he was not in favor of purchasing the new boxes, which cost $125 each, until the fund be placed in better condition.

Mr. Standish, who came in late, amended Mr. Snyder's motion to refer the matter to the fire committee for thorough investigation. The amendment prevailed.

Mr. Chapin moved to instruct the solicitor to draft a resolution for the construction of a new sidewalk in front of the Thompson block, on north Main street. The motion was carried.

The street commissioner was instructed to put in a new crossing on Grand avenue.

Mr. Harmon complained that the sidewalk at the Brotherton property, on south Pine street, was in bad condition.

Mr. Brotherton said that the walk was recently repaired.

Matter of a sewer drop at Wayne and Baxter streets was referred to the street commissioner. The commissioner was also instructed to locate a sewer drop on north Elizabeth street, between Haller street and Grand avenue.

The purchasing committee was requested to purchase two light ladders for the South Side fire department.

Mr. Miller moved to notify the gas companies and the water works trustees to put in connections on west Spring street.

Dr. J. A. Newell, representing the Babcock fire extinguisher, addressed the council, advising the purchase of a half dozen of the three gallon extinguishers. The matter was referred to the fire committee.

Mr. Hughes stated that G. W. Glazie still desired the contract for the care of the garbage grounds, inasmuch as the council had refused to reconsider the awarding of the contract, and he moved to approve the bond Mr. Glazie had submitted.

Mr. Foley said that the contract should have been awarded to Thos. Fennessy, as was recommended by the Board of Health.

Mr. Chapin favored awarding the contract to Mr. Fennessy.

Mr. McVey said that he was in favor of respecting the Board of Health. He considered that the recommendation made by the Board should be adopted by the council.

The motion to approve the bonds was carried.

Adjourned.

How to Ward off an Attack of Croup.

In speaking of this much dreaded disease, Mr. C. M. Dixon, of Pleasant Ridge, Pa., said, "I have a little girl who is troubled frequently during the winter months with croupy affections. Whenever the first symptoms occur, my wife gives her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and the result is always prompt and satisfactory." This remedy is used by thousands of mothers throughout the United States, also in many foreign countries, and always with perfect success. It is only necessary to give it freely when the child becomes hoarse or as soon as the croupy cough appears and all symptoms of croup will disappear. ## TOOK A LIFE TIME.

But Was Amply Rewarded—The Knowledge Acquired Graciously

DEDICATED TO HUMANITY.

Many years ago Dr. Wheeler, then a young man with keen perception of physical needs, noted the lack of knowledge in the treatment of nerves, and through them the entire system. He determined to devote his life and direct his efforts to the study and treatment of that mysterious and subtle structure. He followed his determination well and successfully, and as a result the world is endowed with a remedy, Dr. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer, which is a specific for all nervous troubles. It remained for Dr. Wheeler to present and develop the fact that disease is a result of a debilitated nerve system; that strong nerves make health. Dr. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer is, beyond all doubt, the true remedy for sick nerves. W. A. Emmons, Fergusville, Ohio, endorses this statement.

"Last summer I was stricken with sleeplessness and nervous prostration. I could get no relief, and was growing worse when Dr. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer was recommended. The first bottle helped me and the third one restored me to perfect health. During my sickness I lost 20 pounds, which I soon regained after the use of this valuable medicine."

Dr. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer is not an experimental compound, neither is its virtue confined to the treatment of special sets of nerves, but through the entire nervous system, restoring strength to all the vital organs.

MOTHERS WILL ORGANIZE.

National Congress to be Held in the Interests of the Home.

There will be held in Washington, in February, 1897, a national congress of mothers. The originator of the project, believing in the necessity for organized and earnest effort on the part of the mothers of the land concerning questions most vital to the welfare of their children and the manifold interests of the home, presented the subject at some of the mothers' meetings at Chautauqua in the summer of 1895. The earnest enthusiasm with which it was received made it evident that the thought needed only to be disseminated in order to be quickly accepted and acted upon.

It is proposed to have the congress consider all subjects which relate to the home, especially those bearing upon the better and broader moral and physical as well as mental training of the young. Of especial importance will be the subject of the means of developing in children characteristics which will elevate and ennoble them, and thus assist in overcoming the conditions which now prompt crime and make necessary the maintenance of jails, workhouses and reformatories.

CARDINAL GIBBONS SUED.

An Outcome of a Difficulty in a Polish Church.

Cardinal Gibbons is defendant in two damage suits in the city court of Baltimore. The plaintiffs are Vincent Kabot and his wife, the husband claiming $10,000 damages and the wife $20,000 for personal injuries she sustained by being ejected from the Polish Holy Rosary Catholic church.

The Kabots belonged to a faction in the church that was opposed to the pastor, Father Barabasz, who was appointed by Cardinal Gibbons, and having refused to abide by the orders of the new pastor they were debarred from the church.

They had paid their pew rent in advance, and Mrs. Kabot insisted upon entering. The usher, it is alleged, struck Mrs. Kabot and pushed her down the steps. Then he gave her into the hands of the police and she was taken to the station house.

The cardinal is made defendant because he is held to have been the author of the trouble.—Philadelphia Press.

Reports submitted to the National Council at New York. The report of Mrs. Bertha Selz, treasurer of the national council of Jewish women, shows a balance of almost $500.

One of the sessions called upon a report was that of Benveniste, representative of Mrs. Carrie S. Benveniste. In her report Mrs. Benveniste stated that a "corner" for Jewish women had been established in the public library at Detroit. This "corner" contained numerous articles of Jewish literature and high notices of the report of Mrs. Benveniste.

Mrs. Ellen Benveniste of Clark St., president of the Federation of Women's Clubs and Mrs. Mary Lowe Dickinson, president of the national council of Jewish women, were also present among the visitors.

The chief feature of the session was the reading of a paper by Mrs. Nellie L. Miller of Memphis. Mrs. Miller is vice president of the Memphis section. Her paper entitled "The Council, Its Advantages, Needs and Difficulties," was listened to with the closest attention.

She said in part: "A national organization of Jewish women is an index of the time. We are coming from behind the cloud of obscurity and disinterestedness as to our future value as women in this progressive and enlightened age. By association with and emulation of our Christian sisters much good could be learned, and such actions on our part are to be encouraged, but not to the degree of merging our individualities and personalities so as to lose our identity as a denomination."

ATTEMPTED LYNCHING

A Mob Assaults the Jail to Get a Colored Highwayman.

Farmville, Va., Nov. 17.—A lynching party visited the jail of Prince Edward county, located here, and attempted to take the life of Elisha Johnson, colored, awaiting trial for an assault and highway robbery alleged to have been committed by Johnson Tuesday night upon a white man named "Wax" Price. There were in the party a half dozen determined men, one of whom climbed the high fence surrounding the jail and unhooking the gate, admitted the others.

The prisoner was confined in a lower cell and when asked through the window if he was Elisha, the reply came that the man wanted was in the next room. The would-be lynchers immediately opened fire upon the prisoner, who was lying upon his couch paralyzed from fright. He could not be seen well through the window and cell bars and only one load of shot from the volley fired at him took effect. His wounds are not serious.

Johnson, it is alleged, waylaid "Wax" Price near Price's depot, in this county and struck him on the head and robbed him. Price's injuries are not serious and therefore there is much surprise that an attempt at lynching was made.

ST. JOHN NOT DEAD

A Wife Murderer Goes Free Because of Prominent Relatives.

Guthrie O. T. Nov. 17.—There is considerable excitement both here and at Oklahoma City over the report that Harry St. John, son of ex-Governor John P. St. John of Kansas, is not dead as announced three weeks ago. Young St. John was under indictment for the murder of his wife, and his trial was to have commenced shortly after his death was announced.

The story of St. John's probable return to life was started a week after his supposed burial, and though it was strenuously denied, it will not down. It has now been revived by a reliable El Reno man, who declared that within a week he has seen St. John walking on the streets of Kansas City with Judge H. J. Pitzer of this city his former associate in the legislature and afterward his attorney.

It is a significant fact that as yet it has not been shown that anybody but the doctors and undertakers saw Mr. St. John after his death was announced.

Killed by Spaniards.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 17.—Word was received that Dr. Pedro Betancourt a surgeon in the Cuban army, and one of those prominent in the revolutionary movement, has been killed by the Spaniards. Dr. Pedro was one of those arrested in this city in September, 1895, on the charge of filibustering and was subsequently acquitted. Soon after his trial he got away to Cuba with an expedition.

Anxious to Win.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 17.—One thousand five hundred persons were present at a mass meeting of undergraduates and alumni held at the gymnasium to consider Princeton's prospects of winning the football championship. Speeches were made by prominent alumni.

Work For Six Hundred.

Norwich, Conn., Nov. 17.—Notice was posted at the Falls Company cotton mills that operations will be resumed Monday, Nov. 20. The full force of 600 hands will be employed.

King Humbert Ratified.

Rome Nov. 17.—King Humbert has authorized the ratification of the peace agreement with the regent Menich of Abyssinia, which was announced in a dispatch from Major Veneziani.

Seven Houses Burned.

Wilkeshaire Pa. Nov. 17.—The village of Port Bouckley, north of this city, was swept by fire and seven houses were totally destroyed, entailing a loss of $12,000.

Took a Recess.

Washington, Nov. 17.—The supreme court took a recess until Monday, the 20th inst.

WHO SAID

Business Was Dull?

Wherever it was, he certainly had not been in this store. Price power is the drawing feature here this fall, as it always has been since we started. We are reversing the usual order of things. When times are dull we are busy. Perhaps you desire to know the secret of this. It is that we always succeed in selling really good, honest clothing and furnishings at prices which are a little bit below those of our competitors. Any man who has bought from us will tell that he has received more satisfaction from our clothing for his money than he ever dreamed could be got out of a suit of clothes or an overcoat. Any man who has not dealt with us should be told this. He should be told it until he thoroughly believes it, for every purchase that he makes at another store is a distinct loss to himself. Sometimes the loss may be very small. Sometimes it may be large. But there is always a loss, for we know that lower prices cannot be placed on good clothing than those we mark on ours.

After all the figuring of the republican managers at Columbus, they fall in line.

Effort to make their plurality win those bets on 50,000 plurality for McKinley. His vote, does not exceed Bryan's by 50,000, as the 2,508 votes for Bryan and Watson must be included in the count, and this reduces McKinley's plurality to 47,552. An explanatory article from the pen of Col. W. A. Taylor, Secretary of the Democratic State Committee, printed in yesterday's Times Democrat, gives the exact figures, and shows that the Democrats who bet against the 50,000 plurality figure for McKinley have won.

THE INCREASE IN EXPORTS.

The tariff act of 1890 did not go into effect until over three months of the fiscal year of 1891 had expired. The full force of the change did not show in the treasury returns until the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892. The operation of the act was attended by a temporary decline in the exports of our manufacturers. The value of which for the fiscal years named was as follows:

1891	$108,337,316
1892	108,510,837
1893	158,024,118
1894	181,726,208

The last tariff act took effect August 1, 1894, a month after the beginning of the fiscal year of 1895. The exports of manufacturers since then have been as follows:

1895	$183,595,743
1896	223,489,933

Notwithstanding all the disturbance of the presidential campaign our exports of manufactured goods are still strongly on the increase and amount for the first three months of the current fiscal year to more than $64,000,000. The probability is that the total for the fiscal year will be in excess of $256,000,000.

These figures are conclusive proof that an enlargement of the market for American manufacturers is going on under the present tariff. The increase is not confined to a few articles, but it is a general one extending to every class of manufactured goods. This is well shown by the following table, covering the period of nine months, ending with September:

Articles.	1895.	1896.
Clothes and cars.....	$1,238,329	$2,082,648
Clocks and watches.....	241,438	1,150,698

Manufactures of wood.....	4,501,169	5,801,693
Manufactures of iron.....	301,150	597,753

The condition of affairs revealed by such statistics should be taken into account in framing legislative measures. In any revision of the tariff care must be taken not to obstruct this remarkable development of our foreign trade. —Pittsburg Telegraph.

Maceo, the Cuban.

When the true history of the last part of the nineteenth century comes to be written, its greatest fighting hero will be Antonio Maceo, the Cuban with negro blood in his veins. The story of his life as furnished lately by a newspaper correspondent is as romantic as that of King Arthur, as terrible as that of one of the old Norse gods. We learn from this account that Antonio is the last of 11 brothers, who, 28 years ago, with their father, swore a solemn oath that they would never stop fighting Spain till they were all dead or Cuba was free.

The father and nine of the brothers lost their lives in the previous Cuban rebellion—that which began in 1868 and lasted ten years. Only two were left—Antonio and Jose. Jose, the last except Antonio, fell nearly a year ago, with "Viva Cuba Libre!" on his lips as a death cry.

They were led to join the first Cuban rebellion in consequence of the destruction of their home and of outrages committed by Spanish guerrillas.

The most remarkable part of Maceo's history is that which he spent in West Point as a hostler at the United States Military academy. He studied military science and tactics out of books more than some of the American cadets themselves did. At the same time he watched, this strange, silent hostler, every point of drill, military discipline and maneuver through which the teachers put the academy boys. Few knew that the hostler had been a major general in the patriot Cuban army in 1878.

And now again, 1896, with the scars of 21 wounds upon him, a Sherman, Sheridan and Stonewall Jackson all in one, Antonio Maceo is the inspiration of the Cuban patriot cause. If will not fail this time.

How large a part of the world's money transactions depends on paper currency is shown by the settlements at the New York clearing house. Last year the footing up of debits and credits left the sum of $2,000,000,000 to be settled. Of this, only $20,000 was paid in coin.

HARTER PEACHED.

lip, Plance and Harter, and since that time they have watched these three night and day. They ascertained that Harter had brought a jug of gin and blackberry here from "Societyville." This added another link to the chain of evidence and by a Sunday night the chief and detective were satisfied they were respecting the right men and orders were issued that the suspects should be arrested on sight. Plance and Harter were arrested yesterday by policeman Smalley, and Cutlip was captured by detective Kane yesterday afternoon.

Admittances were filed in Justice Moore's court this morning, causing the three prisoners with burglary and larceny. Harter was the first arraigned, and after entering a plea of guilty to the charge, he confessed, stating that he and the other two prisoners were intoxicated from drinking blackberry wine and gin, and that he and Cutlip climbed upon the roof of the building, but that Plance was too drunk, and staid below to watch. He admitted knowledge of all the stolen articles except the watch, which he claimed he had not seen. Cutlip and Plance were next arraigned and both promptly pleaded not guilty to the charge. They said they were ready for a preliminary hearing at once, and Harter was sworn, but when the latter began to give his testimony, Plance and Cutlip concluded to plead guilty and the preliminary hearing ceased. All three were bound over to common pleas court. Cutlip and Plance's bond being fixed at $150, and Harter's being $100. Plance will probably be the only one able to give bond for the amount.

During several years residence in the far west, I had many opportunities for observing the wonderful effects of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Its efficacy was demonstrated in the alkali regions where the water produces violent purging. It allayed the attack when all other remedies failed. I repeatedly saw the greatest distress from diarrhoea cured in a few minutes. I used the remedy myself with the most satisfactory results, and can recommend it for the complaints for which it is indicated.

Something to Know.

It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring that tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bitters. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centres in the stomach, gently stimulates the liver and kidneys and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bitters improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for 50c or $1.00 per bottle at H. F. Vorkamp's Drug Store, n. e. c. r. Main and North sts.

BACKWOODS SURGERY.

Treating a Dislocation With a Pulley and Steam Engine.

"Probably as queer a piece of backwoods surgery as has been described," says a frequent reader of the "Times," was that performed by a Moschhead lake guide known as old Sabattus 20 years ago. The man was not an Indian, as the nickname implies, but a Yankee, one of those rough fellows formerly characteristic of that locality. This guide was left on a lake steamerboat as one of the far up landings while the engineer went ashore with the company. A man named Meservy came aboard and in fooling around the boat managed to tumble down into the fire pit and put his shoulder out of joint.

"Here was a dilemma. The other members of the party would not be back for half an hour, and the injured man was in great pain. The guide was a man of expedients. He got a rope and tied his patient securely to a post. Then he tied another one around the man's wrist and hitched the loose end of it to a pulley of the engine. He managed somehow to turn on steam, and the pulley began to wind up the rope. It drew the arm out right in beautiful shape and presently the joint snapped back into its socket. Then Sabattus jumped around to shut off steam while the pulley kept on winding. 'Holy Moses,' gasped the guide excitedly, 'how does it go? I don't know where it is. I can't stop the blasted thing.' And the pulley meanwhile was slowly but surely pulling Meservy to pieces. His eyes were sticking out of their sockets, and he screamed and gasped for breath.

"Sabattus danced around like a wild man, not knowing what to do, when he happened to spy a hatchet lying near, and, jumping for that, he cut the rope and saved a dreadful catastrophe. This was done just as the party of city folks who had gone ashore came rushing back on to the boat alarmed at Meservy's screams. It was some years afterward," says the narrator, "that I was present when a lot of summer company arrived at Greenville. Sabattus was there, too, and presently a distinguished-looking man, one of the newcomers, went up to him and said with a meaning smile, 'Are not you the man that practices surgery by steam?' and Sabattus had to admit that he was 'that same feller.'"

Loved the Bottle Before He Had Teeth.

At No. 82 Warwick Ave., Zanesville, O., lives Mrs. R. H. Mills, who relates the following experience: "I have used Dr. Hand's Teething Lotion and find it all that it claims to be. Our little boy cut his teeth so hard that he almost had spasms. Bathing his gums with the Lotion would relieve him immediately. He knew the bottle better than all others and would cry for it. I advise every mother who has teething children to use Dr. Hand's Teething Lotion." At all drugists, 25c.

It is said that carbolic acid, if dissolved in glycerin or alcohol, is not caustic, whatever be the degree of concentration. A small proportion of water added to the alcohol or glycerin solution will cause it to act as a caustic.

The first observatory was located at Wilmamstown, Mass., in 1836.

From Sire to Son.

As a family medicine Bacon's Celery King for the Nerves passes from sire to son as a legacy. If you have Kidney, Liver or Blood Disorder get a free sample package of this remedy. If you have Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Rheumatism, etc., this specific will cure you. Wm. M. Melville, the leading druggist, is distributing samples free. Large packages 50c and 25c.

Serious troubles come from the neglect of a cough. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is a perfect cure for coughs and colds of all sorts.

Birds and Pokberries.

Dr. George B. Hart thinks that birds eat pokberries in preference to other kinds when they wish to out down their weight as to fly well. Some of the antifat remedies contain pokberry juice.

You Can't Afford to Chance It.

A heavy cold may lead to pneumonia or consumption. Foley's Honey and Tar taken in time affords perfect security from serious results. H. F. Vorkamp, n. e. cor. Main and North streets.

WEALTHY ENGLISH ACTORS.

Many Have Made the Bulk of Their Fortunes in America.

The richest living English actor is Mr. Bancroft, and the beginning of his fortune, which is said to be nearly $1,500,000, was made at a little theater in Tottenham Court road known in its day as the Queen's. Mr. Bancroft received $30,000 per annum from Beerholm Tree in the form of rent for the Haymarket theater, which he purchased some 15 years ago.

Sir Henry Irving gives away thousands of dollars every year to less fortunate brothers and sisters on the stage. Unfortunate actors have not a better or more willing friend, Wilson Barrett perhaps excepted, than the "Knight of the Stags." Were it not for this fact, Sir Henry would probably be very rich. His productions, even costing, as they frequently do, as much as $100,000 to stage, have scarcely ever proved financial failures, while his tours in this country, where he is most popular, have brought him enormous sums of clear profit. His first two tours in America cleared for him above $450,000, and his last trip is said to have increased his banking account to the tune of $300,000.

The Kendalls have also made large fortunes here, where they have all fortunes met with greater success than at home. By two trips taken in 1889 and 1890 they cleared $600,000, which they have increased very considerably by doing the provinces in England.

J. L. Toole, in spite of his popularity in London, has never made any very big sums out of his metropolitan productions. In Australia and in the provinces he is more appreciated than in London, and he has had great financial prosperity.

His Australian tour, made some six years ago, put some $40,000 into his pocket, and his fortune is now said to exceed $100,000.

George Conquest, whose right name is Oliver, inherited from his father $350,000, which he is said to have doubled during the many years he has run the Surrey theater with such conspicuous success. His yearly pantomimes, although costing enormous sums to produce, have always added largely to his wealth.

Mrs. Sarah Lane is "probably the richest woman in the profession." Her productions at the Britannia theater, Hoxton, have ever met with successes only equaled by her own enormous popularity at this seat of blood and thunder drama. Her theater, which is nightly filled from door to roof by most enthusiastic audiences, only holds $500, but in 32 years she has, by careful management and judicious catering, succeeded in accumulating a fortune of more than $900,000.

Charles Wyndham has made a considerable fortune since he first took the Criterion theater, 11 years ago. His productions have always been very successful and his wealth is estimated at $500,000.

Beerholm Tree is another actor who has been enormously successful, but the exact amount of his fortune is not known. It is, however, acknowledged to be very large.

W. S. Penley has made a fortune out of "Charley's Aunt." Indeed, if reports are to be believed, the amount of the fortune exceeds $1,000,000, and this is quite possible, considering the years this play has been running, not only in London, but all over the world. Edward Terry, whose successes in Australia have been much greater than his successes in England, is the lucky possessor of some $200,000, a considerable portion of which was made out of "Sweet Lavender." Charles Warner is somewhat of a go as you please gentleman and contents himself with a fortune of approximately $150,000, while Mrs. Langtry is said to be worth about $1,000,000.—Hartford Times.

Cleopatra's Taming.

Where does Cleopatra's body rest? Scarcely a layman who would not answer, "Why, in Egypt!"

After her cajoleries, her wiles, her life of intense if not very exalted loves, Cleopatra was laid in one of the loveliest tombs that has ever been fashioned by the hand of man. But what a change 2,000 years has brought about!

Today an ugly mummy, with an emblematic bunch of decayed wheat and a coarse comb tied to its head—a mere roll of tightly swathed dust—lies crumpled in a hideous glass case at the British museum. It is Cleopatra, the once great queen, a Venus in charm, beauty and love.—St. Paul's.

Germany's Fast Train.

Germany's fastest long distance train is the Ostend-St. Petersburg, which runs 881 miles over German territory in 22½ hours, a mean speed, including stops, of 38½ miles an hour. On the return journey better time is made, the rate being 40.6 miles, or, in actual running time, excluding stops, 43½ miles. The train between Berlin and Hamburg, however, makes 176½ miles in 3 hours 36 minutes, the mean speed being 40.1 miles an hour.

THE RETIRED BURGLAR.

What Happened to Him One Night Drove Him to a Deep Cellar.

"I'm fond of lobsters," said the retired burglar, "but I like 'em best cooked. And, speaking of 'em cooked, the best way to eat lobsters is stewed. You take good, lively, fresh lobsters and boil 'em and then you pick 'em out and cut 'em up, not too fine, and warm 'em over, putting in a little water to make a sort of a gravy and a little bit of butter and a little pepper and some salt, unless you put in salt enough when you boiled 'em, and maybe just a little touch of vinegar, though some folks don't like any vinegar in 'em at all. Then you serve 'em hot. I like to spread a slice of bread and put that on my plate and ladle the lobster out on that. You may think there's better ways of eating lobsters, but when I have stewed lobsters for breakfast I forget I'm poor. But what I set out to tell you about was a live lobster.

"I dropped down one night through a window that I had opened into a deep cellar. The window was narrow and high up. I guess it must have been six or seven feet from the cellar bottom to the lower edge of it. Of course, a man can't walk up a stone wall like that very well, and so before going up stairs I fixed a way of getting out easy, in case I should want to go in a hurry, as, of course, might happen. I moved a couple of boxes up under the window, one on top of the other, making a sort of steps. When I reached down to pick up my bag again, I didn't strike it at first, and as I was feeling along for it something grabbed my hand, nipped it sharp and hard and hung on. I was startled, sure, but I realized in an instant that it was a lobster. You know some folks, when they ain't going to cook the lobsters till morning, put 'em out on the grass overnight or maybe down on the cellar bottom, where they'll keep cool and in good condition, and I'd run against a lobster put down in the cellar.

"When I stood up, the lobster was still hanging on. I threw out my hand, natural enough, I suppose, with an idea of throwing the lobster off, but instead of that I banged him against the big zinc cylinder around the furnace. It sounded like hitting a big iron drum with a club. That startled me, too, and when I stepped back to get away from the furnace I fell over into the coal bin. There was a narrow opening in the side of the bin where they'd took down one board at a time as the coal got lower there until they'd got down to just one board at the bottom, and I'd stumbled over that and fell backward on the coal. The lobster was still hanging on. I thought I made noise enough clattering against the board and falling on the coal, but the minute I struck the coal I started a coal slide. From where the boards had been taken out the coal sloped up high against the side of the cellar. My falling on the foot of it started the whole face of the slope moving. It made more noise than a load of coal dumping on the sidewalk.

"Stepping out of the coal bin, I knocked down the coal shovel leaning against it just outside and the big furnace poker. Noise? Humph! And all this time the lobster was still hanging on—you see, it takes me some little time to tell you about it all, but it took mighty little time for it all to happen.

"As the poker banged down I heard folks coming down the stairs from the second floor to the floor above the cellar. Of course there was just one thing for me to do and that was to get out. While the folks were coming down from the second floor to the first, I was making for the cellar window, and the lobster never let go till I stepped up on the first box."—New York Sun.

Convent Hair and Its Source.

Sentimental persons are very apt to have their feelings harrowed by the phrase "real convent hair," used so generally in the hair trade. Their sympathies are so easily aroused by the mysterious and unknown sufferings which they imagine inmates of convents are constantly enduring. Unfortunately for romance the unselfish emotion thus inspired in many susceptible breasts is very frequently misapplied, for at least seven-eighths of the so called convent hair was never within the walls of a convent. It is much more likely to have belonged to some hardy French or German peasant girl, only too eager to part with it for the few shillings offered in exchange.

Less than one-eighth of the so called convent hair really comes from convents, as the term convent hair applies, among hair dealers, to any hair bought from the heads of young, healthy girls, whether they are nuns or not.

Of the real convent hair quantities come from France, Germany and Italy. At present, black hair being in great demand, importations are made from France. Beautiful glossy hair is also collected from the convents of Spain and Portugal.—Pearson's Weekly.

CONVENT EDUCATION.

The Place Where Girls Are Prepared Only to Appear Well in Society.

To show the transformation that women's education has undergone in France and to indicate as clearly as possible what still remains of the old forms and what new ones the future promises, I ask permission to go back to the last century, when a little girl, far from being her mother's inseparable companion, as she is now, was merely brought to her once a day by her governess. When 11 or 12 years old, she was taken to a convent, where, we are told, she acquired "the accomplishments necessary to the status of a woman who is to live in society, hold a certain place there, and even manage a household."

This may seem very extraordinary to those who imagine a convent as a prison or a tomb, but it is certain that the unchanging convent has remained just what it was when Rousseau was both praising and blaming it. The boarding pupils still play many games and have plenty of exercise, and the result is that they are usually in very good health. The calm serenity of the moral atmosphere surrounding them seems to preserve them from all nervous excitement. Besides the convents—and I refer to the great convents such as the Sacred Heart, the Roule or Les Oiseaux—are still the places where women are best prepared for appearing well in society. How is this done? By keeping up old traditions, the special formulas of a fortunately vanished period when a young girl left the convent only to be married. She was then at once supposed to ignore no single shade of etiquette, to do nothing awkward, to be armed from head to foot for the grand ceremony of her presentation at court.

These may be periclit formulas, but they separated one, once for all, from the common people, and they are still preserved behind those great walls that insure the past. In addition, the nuns, who are the guardians of these traditions, frequently belong to aristocratic families. This atmosphere of hostility to all progress, this silent protest against both the good and the evil of modern times confounded in the same tacit reproach, are the convent's worst features.

It would seem like a scene from the middle ages if an American Protestant could see the parlor of the celebrated convent of the Visitation, where little girls come to talk on Sundays to their relations behind a double set of narrow gratings. Not all convents are cloistered. There are some where no grating separates parents and children, but there is always a nun walking up and down, discreetly present at all interviews, and all letters sent or received must be read by the superior. Save during the two months of vacation, the separation between mother and daughter is complete, and this is why in the present time, when home education seems to prevail, the convents are less in favor than formerly.—The Bentzon in Century.

Dying Confessions.

"Although the public seldom hears of them, dying confessions of the most strange and startling character are often made by our patients," said one of the head nurses of a great London hospital.

"I have known many cases in which men and women, apparently paupers, have at the last extremity informed us that they belonged to rich and aristocratic families, and have requested us to communicate with their relatives. What do you think of a miserable, faded old woman, brought from one of the most poverty stricken streets in London, turning out to be the sister of a marquis?"

"Only a few months ago a man was brought here from a wretched lodging—the complaint from which he was suffering being greatly aggravated by starvation. When told he could not live, he made a will bequeathing something like £30,000. He was an ex-fellow of one of the colleges of Cambridge university."

"Not long before a man had died here who informed us when dying that he had been a colonel in the English army and had been one of the generals of Don Carlos of Spain. 'In one case a man who had been tried and acquitted of murder many years ago confessed that he was, after all, the guilty man.'—Pearson's Weekly.

First English Insurance.

In 1667, immediately after the great fire of London, offices were opened in that city for insuring householders against loss in case of the destruction of their property by fire. The idea was given to the English by Italian factors, who were familiar with insurance in their own country.

DYNAMITING THE DOG.

A Remarkable Fish Story in Which a Fish Appears.

As a reporter was browsing around one of the down town hotels the clerk pointed out to him a tall, angular boy of 19 or 20, looting all over a chair in front of a window commanding a view of the avenue and apparently having a first rate time to be so far away from home. The clerk took the reporter over to the boy after a minute or two and introduced him, with the remark that the reporter wanted to know about that fish story.

"Well," smiled the youngster, "it wasn't so much of a fish story as it was a dog story, and it wasn't so much a dog story after it was all over as it was when we first took the dog out with us. You see, it was this way: Four or five of us young fellows took a notion we'd go a-fishing, and we took a dog along. He was a nice little dog, that was so fond of water that people swore he'd never been raised in Kentucky, but he was. He was my dog, and I ought to know. We was fishing in a pond, and after about three hours of it we didn't get a smell, much less a bite, and somebody came along and said the way to fish a pond was with dynamite.

"All we had to do was to sling a cartridge in, let her blow up, and we'd have fish to carry home on a freight train. The cuss that told us was a railroad hand and was working down the road about a mile, and if we'd go down there we could get for half a dollar enough to shoot all the fish in the county. Me and another fellow went along with him, and they fixed up a cartridge tied to a float, and all we had to do was to light the fuse, sling it in the pond and run like the devil. The dynamite would do the rest. We forked over the half dollar—course, they bought whisky with it—and went back to the pond, where the others was waitin'.

"Then we follered directions, but we forgot the dog, and when I slung in the cartridge and the float the dog he gave a yelp of joy and, bang! he went in after it. He got it, too, and started for shore with it, though we fired rocks at him and howled our lungs out to make him let it go. That's the kind of a dog he was. He never did know what to let go was. Well, we seen we couldn't stay around there, and we went a-whooping, and the dog came after us, dragging the dynamite, for it wasn't heavy, and catchin' up with us at 10 miles an hour.

"He was friskin his tail and yelp in, pleased most to death, and we was gettin scareder, for we knew that stuff was goin off pretty soon, and when it did there was goin to be heavy thunder. I don't know what would have happened if it hadn't a been for a fence that we got over. The dog couldn't get the float through the cracks, and while he was dragging it and barkin fit to kill that cartridge went off right by his nose, and when we got on our feet again at the foot of the hill we couldn't see anything of dog nor float nor about four panels of fence. They all went together, and we felt so thankful when we picked ourselves up that we organized a prayer meetin right there and sung a hymn."—Washington Star.

Lucy Larcom and Whittier.

Miss Larcom had absolute simplicity of manner. I never saw in her a trace of either embarrassment or elaboration, much less of affectation. She was a motherly looking woman. A stranger might have guessed her to be in the process of putting several boys through college and not in the least worried about their debts and never nagging them about their scrapes.

This case of nature sometimes led to a little jealousy, or absence of practical attention, of which her friends were laughingly and lovingly aware. There is a story told of a ride that she took with Mr. Whittier—I cannot now recall it in its precise words. The hill was steep. Mr. Whittier was driving. The horse was gay. The load—on the lady's side at least—was not light. Lucy Larcom was talking, and she talked on. I think the subject was the life to come. At all events, it was some abstract theme, grave and high. The horse grew unruly. The buggy lurched and rolled. Whittier grasped the reins valiantly, anticipating a possible accident and centering his being on the emergency. But Lucy talked on serenely. The horse threatened to break. The danger doubled. The buggy sagged heavily on Lucy's side. Still peacefully she murmured on.

"Lucy!" exploded the poet at last. "Lucy! If thou dost not stop talking till I get this horse in hand, thou wilt be in heaven before thou wants to!"—Elizabeth Stuart Phelps in McClure's.

Glycerin and Rose Water.

The mixture of glycerin and rose water, so often recommended for its healing and soothing qualities, is made by adding ten parts of rose water to one part of glycerin.

Healthy men don't commit suicide. The man who takes his own life is the man whose nerves are on edge—whose brain is worn out with overwork and worry—whose bad digestion makes him morbid and melancholy. A man can commit suicide in more ways than one. He can let his sickness kill him. If he is losing flesh and vitality, he can let it go on till he dies—it won't be long. Many men hesitate to take medicine. They forget that sickness merely shows the body's need for some material that is lacking in the food. The right medicine supplies this want. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the right medicine in such cases out of ten. It soothes the nerves and makes them strong and steady. It furnishes food for the brain. It helps to digest what is eaten and assists in the assimilation of nutriment. It perfectly purifies the blood and fills it with vitalizing properties. It is the one great and infallible medicine for men and women whose nerves are out of order, who are losing flesh, losing sleep, losing vigorous vitality. It brings back health and strength with marvellous rapidity. It has been sold for over thirty years, and has a record of many thousands of cures for every year—a record unapproached by any other medicine in the world.

A VALUABLE BOOK FREE.

For families living in the country, or far from a physician, Dr. Pierce's book, "Common Sense Medical Advice," is an ever present reliable helper. This 100 page book contains more practical and useful medical knowledge than was ever before condensed into that space. It has over 300 illustrations. It is written in plain, easy language. There are no technicalities. If you want this 100 page book in paper covers, you may have it for the cost of mailing; 21 cents. If you want it in fine embossed cloth, you may have it for 41 cents. ## LIFELESS BODY

Of an Unknown Man Found in the C. & E. Yards.

HEAD TERRIBLY MUTILATED

Deceased Supposed to be John Donahue, from Huntington, Ind.—Thought to Have Been Killed by an East Bound Train.

About 6:30 o'clock this morning the lifeless body of an unknown man was found lying in the C. & E. yards just west of the Solar Refinery road-crossing. The ghastly discovery was made by A. C. Hoover, who was on his way from the Hoover residence to the C. & E. depot. He summoned a crowd of section men, under Foreman Toohey, to the scene and then notified the operator at the C. & E. ticket office.

At the point where the body was found there is a long sidetrack on each side of the main track. The body was lying near the south track, with head to the east and one hand lying across the north rail of the south track. The head was terribly mutilated, the whole upper part of the skull being shattered to pieces, which together with the unfortunate's brains, were scattered along the track for some distance to the east of the spot where the body was found. One piece of the skull was found down the embankment, fully 50 feet from the body. The hand which laid on the rail was horribly mangled, apparently having been run over by a switch engine on the side track after the fatal accident had occurred. The appearance of the horribly mutilated head and the bits of skull, and brains scattered along the track, led to the belief among those who viewed the shocking sight, that the man had been struck by an east bound train, though whether by an engine or a car is hard to determine. However, the deep three-cornered cavity in the head, reaching down to the nose, has the appearance of having been caused by the forward corner of a rapidly moving freight car. Members of the C. & E. night yard force state that the man was seen about the yards early last night, and appeared to be under the influence of liquor, and the supposition is that he was killed either by the first section of east-bound freight train No. 78, which arrived here at 3:30 o'clock this morning, or by the second section of the same train, which passed at 5:37 o'clock. Telegrams were forwarded to the conductors of these trains, requesting them to carefully inspect the trains for trace of the accident.

Coroner Stueber and Grosjean's ambulance were summoned to the scene, and the remains were removed to Grosjean's morgue at 8 o'clock. Among the effects found upon the body were a small looking glass, a cake of toilet soap, about four dollars and a half in money, a pipe, some smoking tobacco, a cigar and a registered letter receipt. The latter was the only article that could be considered of any value in identifying the remains. The receipt was for a registered letter sent from Huntington, Ind., yesterday by John Donahue to John George at North Stark. The state in which North Stark is located was not given upon the receipt, and a telegram to the postmaster at Huntington brought a reply stating that the letter had been sent to John George, at North Stark, O., and immediately a telegram was sent to John George at that place, asking for information concerning the deceased's relatives, but at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon no answer had yet been received.

The deceased was apparently 35 or 40 years of age, medium height, weight about 180 pounds, dark hair and brown mustache. He wore a dark coat and vest, dark gray jeans trousers with brown striped overalls over them, a new pair of heavy congress shoes, a gray woolen shirt with black bosom and light gray underwear.

The Teas We Drink.

The American people are noted in every market on the globe as wanting the cheapest of everything. Therefore our markets are flooded with the cheapest Teas, the better grades going to England and Europe. Therefore dealers in this country who study quality find it very difficult to purchase as good teas as they would like for their customers. We have made the tea business a lifelong study and know this to be absolutely true. However, being in close touch with several of the largest importers of Teas in the American market we have a decided advantage over our many competitors in selecting from the first arrivals. We are fortunate in getting this week the finest Young Hyson Tea ever offered the American people at sixty cents a pound. Every lover of good green tea should buy a pound of this, as the quality is truly delicious.

WOMEN SCARED

By Burglars and Drunken Men About the House.

ONE PROWLER CAPTURED.

Ben Dennis Finds a Man in His House Making Himself Comfortable—A Stranger Tries to Get into Geo. Lyons' House.

The city seems to be overrun with thieves and prowlers, notwithstanding the efforts of the police to keep all suspicious characters on the move. Scarcely a night passes without some depredation being committed. Women are frequently frightened by prowling men at their windows or doors, and petty thefts are quite numerous.

Sunday evening about 9 o'clock, a man was discovered trying to get into George Lyons' residence, on north Jackson street. Mr. Lyons was not at home and Mrs. Lyons was badly frightened by the fellow, but finally succeeded in driving him away. He soon returned again, however, and was trying to open one of the doors, when he was again frightened away by the approach of Mr. Lyons, who was returning home. After being informed about the visitor Mr. Lyons went to the French House, and summoning Patrolman Burns to his assistance, made a search for the prowler, who had hidden in some tall weeds near the P. & W. & C. tracks. When the officer and Mr. Lyons approached he started to run, but was finally captured. He was well dressed, and pleaded to be released, promising to leave town immediately, but he was taken to the police station. He was afterwards released, however, and permitted to leave town, there being no charge against him.

Saturday night, at a late hour, the family at A. L. Richmond's residence on North street was awakened by a noise created by some one trying to get into the house. There were two men seen, who were frightened away before they succeeded in gaining an entrance. A little later, at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Dennis, at 1223 east North street, Mrs. Dennis was awakened by hearing some one working with the latch on the kitchen door. She listened a moment and then heard the door open, and then heard some one step quietly into the kitchen. She awakened her husband who, upon going into the kitchen, found a man sitting by the stove. The fellow gave no excuse for having intruded into the house, but appeared to be intoxicated and gave his name as Howard. Nothing had been stolen and believing the man to be drunk Mr. Dennis merely fired him out and made no report of the affair to the police.

It was reported yesterday that highway robbery had been attempted on east High street, but no one has made any report to the police about the affair and the rumor is discredited. The successful work of the police in running down and landing the three young men who perpetrated the robbery at Crossen's grocery, on the night of November 2d, will doubtless tend to break up the frequency of burglaries and robberies.

FUNERAL TO-DAY.

HARTER PEACHED.

Tells How He and His Two Companions Committed THE CROSSEN ROBBERY.

Capt. Bell and Detective Money, With Two Whiskey Bottles for a Clue, Run Down the Perpetrators of a Recent Burglary.

Through the successful efforts of Chief of Police Bell and Detective Chas. Money, one of the several recent burglaries has been cleared up, the goods recovered and the perpetrators landed and practically convicted. The chain of evidence was so thoroughly gathered in by the police that when confronted with it today, the prisoners all pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary, and one of them confessed. The prisoners are Dwight Harter, who has been living part of the time with his aunt, Mrs. Harter, of west Vine street; William Plalce, of 721 south Metcalf street, and Led Cunip, who lives with his stepfather, C. Pierson, of 405 west North street. They are all young men, their ages ranging from 21 to 24 years.

The Crossen robbery occurred on the night of Monday, November 2, Crossen's grocery is located in the old Shade block on east Market street. There is a cupola on the roof of the building, and the robbers gained an entrance through this by tearing off some boards after having climbed upon the roof. They descended to the lower floor into the storeroom by the use of an elevator. Among the articles stolen were eight boxes of cigars, some smoking tobacco, a small amount of change and an open-faced watch, the latter, together with a store key and the change, being taken from the money drawer.

The robbery was discovered next morning and when the police investigated they found two whiskey bottles that had contained blackberry wine and gin lying on the roof, near the cupola. Later the cigars were found in an alley at the rear of the store.

The only clue upon which the police had to commence their work was the two bottles that had been found upon the roof. Captain Bell and Detective Money set diligently to work, however, and soon had a description of three young men who had been seen in the neighborhood of the store on the night of the robbery. Through this description they suspected Cut-
